Norma Gilbert, Ph.D. Candidate

Norma Gilbert recently retired from the CLSC René-Cassin and REGÉS where she was practitioner-researcher and coordinator of Leading practice development in Prevention and Health Promotion for Seniors. Her experience is related to gerontology themes such as health promotion and caregiving.

CAREGIVERS, SOCIAL WORKERS AND ASSESSMENT: THE ROLE OF EXPECTATIONS

How can expectations influence the interaction between family caregivers and social workers during homecare visits? How can social workers navigate multiple and competing roles in their practice of providing assessment and care related to loss of autonomy? This presentation will highlight how caregivers, social workers and even the healthcare system's expectations can influence assessment of older adults in homecare services.
