Dr. Laurel Young is an accredited music therapist (MTA) and is an Associate Professor in the Department of Creative Arts Therapies at Concordia. She has over 22 years of clinical experience in various areas including geriatrics/dementia, cancer, HIV, palliative care, community mental health, and developmental disabilities.

Wendy Foster is a therapeutic Recreation Specialist. She has over 20 years of experience in geriatrics and long-term care and has been working at CHSLD St. Margaret's since 1999. In recent years, she was the Project Manager responsible for implementing two pilot projects through the CSSS Cavendish Innovative Practice Program, both of which were specifically aimed at individuals with mid-late stage dementia.

This conference will present information on providing optimal music listening opportunities for persons with mid-late stage dementia. In addition to examples drawn from literature, popular media, and personal experiences, the presenters will share selected results from a pilot project where they examined responses of four individuals (with dementia) to personalized music listening experiences delivered via an iPod.
